Child, maternal and newborn health in Vietnam has improved markedly over the last couple of decades. However, there are disparities between the rich and the poor, the Kinh majority and ethnic minorities, and between urban and rural areas. A broad range of professional visits and meetings with local midwives will provide excellent insight into midwifery, maternal and child health in Vietnam. The professional programme is balanced by a wide range of cultural visits with ample opportunity to experience the beauty, culture and history of Vietnam and enjoy its fabulous cuisine.

The tour begins in Vietnam's capital, Hanoi, which celebrated its 1000th birthday in 2010. Arrive in Hanoi and check into the Silk Path Hotel before a walking tour through the vibrant Old Quarter in the afternoon. Cars are banned from the Old Quarter at the weekend making it ideal for walking and rickshaw tours. Walk through Hanoi's '36 Streets' where each street is named after the produce that was sold there – hence you may find yourself leaving Silver Street to enter Lacquer Street via Bamboo and Silk Streets – and visit the traditional medicine shops. Take a rickshaw ride around peaceful Hoan Kiem Lake and enjoy a welcome dinner that evening.

Embark on a sightseeing tour the next morning starting with the One Pillar Pagoda as well as the Temple of Literature, the site of Vietnam's old university. Have lunch at KOTO, an Australian-Vietnamese based charity, and learn about their inspiring initiatives with street children. The afternoon is at leisure to further explore Hanoi. Enjoy dinner at Aubergene, a bustling local restaurant.

The following day is devoted to a fascinating series of professional visits, starting with the large National OBGYN Hospital in Hanoi. In the afternoon by way of contrast visit the private Vinmec International Hospital. This visit is hosted by Dang Thi Nghia, a midwife and educator who has worked with Sydney University to develop midwifery education in Vietnam. That evening dinner is with Mrs. Nghia and local midwives.

Opera House, Hanoi

Rise early the next day to set off for Halong Bay, where thousands of towering, steep-sided islands rise from the emerald waters as junk boats cruise languidly among them. You will board your own private junk, the lovely Bai Tho in time for lunch and spend the afternoon in the bay with ample time to stop and explore some caves, beaches and coves. Spend the night in a cabin on the junk.

Take coffee on deck the next morning before disembarking at the port. Visit a water puppet theatre show in Doa Thuc village and then take the Reunification Express first-class overnight to Hue.

Arrive in Hue, Vietnam's former capital, and check into the Hotel Saigon Morin. That afternoon take a relaxing boat trip visiting the elegant Thien Mu Pagoda and then continue on the Mah Ming Tombs known for their lovely landscaped grounds and architecture.

The next morning visit Hue Hospital and then take part in a series of community midwifery visits accompanied by Phanthi Hanh, President of the Vietnamese Association of Midwives. That afternoon take a guided tour of Hue Citadel, which was home to Vietnam's last royal family. The vast citadel defended the Imperial Palace located within the walls. Explore the peaceful gardens and royal buildings including photographs of the royal court and dignitaries. That evening enjoy a private dinner with Mrs Hanh and local midwives.

The following morning take the spectacular coastal drive to Hoi An, where you will check into the La Siesta Hotel. Hoi An was once a thriving port popular with European, Chinese and Japanese merchants - a cultural mix still in evidence today. Take a walking tour of its Old Quarter in the morning, with its ancestral homes, Chinese Assembly Halls and traditional acupuncturists, interspersed with tailors' emporiums (Hoi An is renowned for its silk and fine cloth), lantern and lacquer ware, boutiques, cafes and restaurants. Dinner that evening is in Tam Tam, a former Merchant's House in old Hoi An.

Take a boat across Thu Bon River and visit the village of Kim Bong, as well as visiting some of the surrounding villages and countryside.

Transfer to the airport next day to board your return flight, or alternatively join the extension to Angkor Wat in Cambodia (see overleaf).

“Excellent tour schedule, first class guides, charming destinations – very much enjoyed food & service’ ‘most enjoyable – would certainly recommend it.”

Alan and Penny Gardner, Medical Study Tour to Vietnam and Cambodia January 2013

The area is littered with ancestral tombs, family temples and herb farms. Visit a family-run vegetable and herb farm and sample some of their fresh homegrown ingredients for lunch followed by a relaxing foot massage.

The following day is at leisure with options to take a Vietnamese cookery class, explore the old town, visit the tailors to have one of the local tailors run up a bespoke outfit, browse the local markets or relax around the pool.

From the relative quiet of Hoi An continue south to the hurly burly of Ho Chi Minh City, or Saigon as it is still often referred to by its inhabitants. Transfer to Danang Airport for your flight and transfer to the Grand Hotel. Visit the colourful bustle of Ben Thanh market. Continue onto the French era Notre Dame Cathedral and see the palatial Central Post Office. Dinner will be at the wonderful Indochine restaurant.

Next morning there is an option to take an early morning walk around Ho Chi Minh City. Following breakfast visit Tu Duc Maternity and Obstetric Hospital, the largest hospital in Vietnam. In the afternoon visit the former Presidential Palace, a combination of luxurious reception rooms and reinforced bunkers. The farewell dinner that evening will be at the elegant Ngon restaurant.

Extension to Angkor Wat Cambodia

7 – 9 March 2019

Cambodia is a nation with a proud ancestry in the form of the Khmer Empire, which at its zenith covered much of modern South East Asia, leaving as its legacy the magnificent structures at Angkor. At its peak Angkor is thought to have contained upwards of a million people, making it the largest city in the world at that time.

Fly to Siem Reap and transfer to the Lotus Blanc Hotel. The following morning depart early for the romantic ruins of Ta Prohm still intertwined with enormous tree roots hundreds of years old and the Bayon. Return to the hotel for breakfast and then visit Angkor Wat, which represents one of humankind's most astonishing architectural achievements. The afternoon is at leisure to explore the market, the old French Quarter or relax around the pool. Dinner that evening is at Vrioth. Cambodian food though less known than it's Thai or Vietnamese neighbours is delicious. Transfer to the airport the following day or spend more time in Cambodia.

Tour Leader

Professor Cathy Warwick CBE

Dame Cathy Warwick was Chief Executive of the Royal College of Midwives for 9 years and now works independently. Cathy is also an Honorary Professor of Midwifery at Kings College London. In 2006 she was awarded a CBE for services to Midwifery and Healthcare and in 2017 was made a Dame. Cathy lectures, writes and advises on midwifery issues with a particular interest in the organisation of care and the promotion of choice for women. Cathy has travelled widely both on her own and with her family, visiting midwifery units in America, Sri Lanka and South Africa and has previously led successful midwifery study tours to China, India, South Africa, Nepal and Cuba.

“(Cathy was) professional when representing group as midwives; relaxed and engaging throughout tour”

Liz Budd, South Africa Midwifery and Child Care, 2013

About Us

To travel with us is to dig below the surface, revealing the deeper destination. Of course, you will visit the great historical sites; marvel at the wonders of architecture and engineering; be moved by the riches of culture and art; and experience the most spectacular landscapes in the world. What we also do is make sure that you see the country as it is today, giving you privileged access that independent travel and other tour companies rarely get close to. We give you a variety of experiences, from the sublime to the humble, in the company of intelligent, curious, like-minded people. And while we can be worthy, we also make sure that you have a lot of fun.
