The beautiful city of Seville has a history that sent waves across the globe. 1492 was the year of the Alhambra Decree, which banished Jews from Spain, of the final expulsion of the Moors from Spain, and of Columbus's journey to the Americas. Over five centuries ago, this pocket of Spain launched the small ships that changed the world; it has remained a key player in maritime history ever since.

In 1492 Spain was at the tail end of a centuries-long struggle that had drained their coffers. The promise of riches and of religious conversions led the Catholic Kings, Queen Isabella of Aragon and King Ferdinand of Castile, to support Columbus's plans for his expedition westwards across the seas, and his arrival in the Americas. One of the most significant events in maritime history, Columbus's journey left a far-reaching legacy, as well as delivering almost unimaginable wealth to Spain.

This tour explores the legacies bestowed by Andalucía's extraordinary maritime history, which stretches back to the Phoenicians, continues to the story of small ships on a world-changing journey, and beyond. You will also experience the vibrant local culture of Andalucía, with ample opportunity to enjoy superb food and wine, as well as a lovely extension to Jerez and Doñana National Park.

Tour Leader and Speaker

Captain Peter Hore served worldwide during a full career in the Royal Navy, spent nine years in the film and TV industry, and is now a fulltime author, editor and journalist. A freelance obituarist at the London Daily Telegraph since 2002, he has written over a thousand obituaries on the men and women of the Royal Navy and the Royal Marines and others. He has written several books on naval history and biography, & is a busy public speaker, writes reviews and articles for several newspapers and journals, and is the editor of the Trafalgar Chronicle.

He is a fellow of the Royal Historical Society and the Society for Nautical Research, a chartered member of the Institute of Linguists, and a corresponding member of the Royal Swedish Society for Nautical Sciences. Peter was speaker on a Maritime History Cruise visiting Seville in 2018.

Peter will be accompanied by a specialist English-speaking Spanish guide on days 2, 3 and 4. Geraldine Corbett, our local guide, will lead the extension.

Optional activities in Seville

Andalucía is the birthplace of flamenco, which is deep within the soul of Seville. The detailed origins of flamenco are lost to history, but it is certain that it originated in Andalucía when Spain was under Arab domination - their music and musical instruments were modified and adapted by Christians and Jews, and later by Roma people. Despite the origins of flamenco being hotly contested between Jerez, Seville and sometimes Granada, Seville is the perfect place to to enjoy an evening of this exhilarating music and dance. Tapas is a traditional, tasty and lively way to enjoy a wide range of delicious food and wine, ranging from simple local cheeses, olives and mouth-watering Iberian ham, to the local favorite espinacas con garbanzos stew, as well as little sandwiches and fried foods, especially fried fish, and much more.

Doñana National Park

Extension to Doñana National Park and Jerez

Day 5: Seville / Doñana National Park / Seville (Sun 21 March) B L

Am: Drive to the Doñana National Park, with biodiversity that is unique in Europe, for a guided tour. The park features a great variety of ecosystems and is home to wildlife that includes thousands of European and African migratory birds, fallow deer, Spanish red deer, wild boars, European badgers, Egyptian mongooses and endangered species such as the Spanish imperial eagle and the Iberian lynx. Take a cruise through the park.

Pm: Visit Santiago Castle and walk past the Medina Sidonia Palace (Medina Sidonia led the Spanish Armada against England in 1588). Take a late lunch and explore the the old quarter of Sanlucar de Barrameda. Travel back to Seville.

Day 6: Seville / Jerez / Seville (Mon 22 March) B L

Am: Take the train to Jerez. Visit the Bodega Tradicional, which combines sherry and art. The tour of the bodega includes a talk of its history, an explanation of the sherry creation and ageing process and tasting of VORS and VOS Tradición and Fino Tradición wines. Visit the gallery, which contains the finest private collections of paintings in Andalucía , with works by Spanish painters from the fourteenth to the nineteenth centuries, including masters such as Goya, Zurbarán, Velázquez, Murillo and El Greco, among others.

Pm: Take lunch at a local restaurant. Explore this elegant small city on a walking tour city, including the city market. Return to Seville by train.

Day 7: Seville (Tues 23 March) B

Am: Depart Seville.
