

The Ring of Brodgar

Shetland and Orkney
The Northern Isles
2 – 10 September 2021

4 nights Shetland – 4 nights Orkney

Skara Brae, Orkney

Travel to the northernmost reaches of the UK through spectacular landscapes. Discover history that encompasses Neolithic times, the Bronze and Iron Ages, the Picts and the Vikings, and continues into the modern day. This tour takes you to the farthest Scottish Isles, dramatically beautiful and rich in history and culture, to experience both Shetland and Orkney in just over a week.

Led by a veteran tour leading team, the tour gives a superb overview of these far-flung island neighbours, which share connections and history but retain distinctive characters. Proceed at a relaxed pace with your tour leaders and local guides to discover history, geography, geology and culture and enjoy the unique wildlife of the area, from puffins to Shetland ponies. This tour is a wonderful opportunity to unite the magnificent islands of Shetland and Orkney, with the option to fly or travel by ferry between the two, passing Fair Isle on the way.

Tour Leaders

Dr John Richardson is an Emeritus Professor of Primary Care and General Practice. He also worked for three years as an occupational physician in Northern Ireland. He has led study tours worldwide and was a medical escort to parties of war widows and veterans on journeys of remembrance for the Royal British Legion. He has also run many history of medicine battlefield tours. He has visited more than 80 countries and worked in 41 of them as a doctor. He has also given lectures on cruises.

Susi Richardson has travelled widely across the world with John either as an expedition nurse, or as a nurse on war grave pilgrimages for the Royal British Legion, or as co-tour leader for Jon Baines Tours.

John and Susi have previously led tours for Jon Baines to China, Central Asia, India, Turkey, Central America, Ecuador and the Galapagos, Namibia, Ethiopia, Vietnam, Cambodia, Burma, Egypt, Libya, and on cruises.

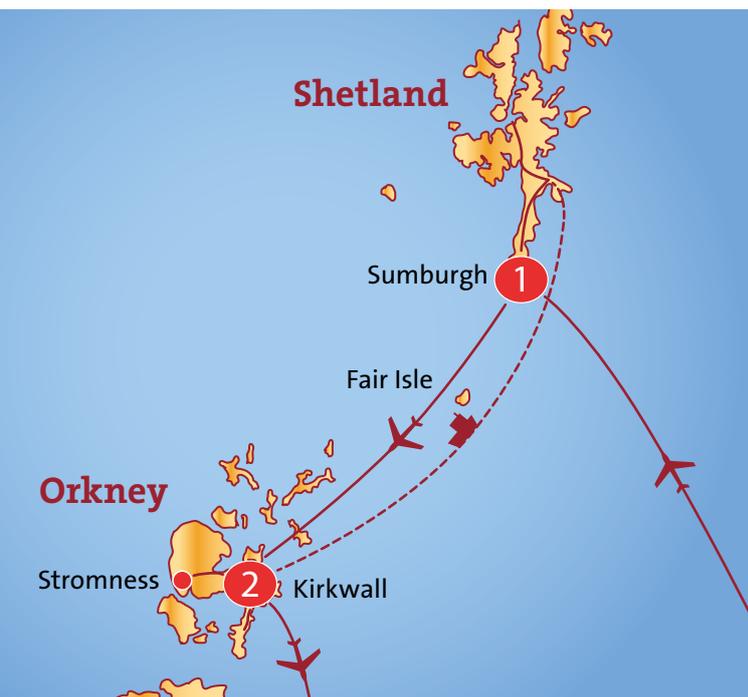

Local Guides

The tour will use local guides in both Shetland and Orkney. In Orkney the guide will be Pat Long, the highly acclaimed local guide on our Kingdoms of the North Tour.

4 nights Shetland – 4 nights Orkney

Day 1: Shetland (Thur, 2 Sept)

D

Pm: Arrive in Sumburgh and transfer to Sumburgh Hotel, a former laird's house (arrival transfer included). Explore the dramatic local scenery if your arrival time permits.

Eve: Welcome dinner at the hotel.

Day 2: Shetland (Fri, 3 Sept)

B L

Am: Walk the short distance to Jarlshof, one of Europe's most important archaeological sites with a history encompassing the Bronze and Iron ages, Picts' settlements, the Vikings and through to the medieval period. Drive to Sumburgh Head Lighthouse, located high on the cliffs with stunning views, and an RSPB nature reserve. Visit the Sumburgh Head Visitor Centre and learn about the history of the lighthouse, which has been operating for 200 years, as well as Shetland's maritime history, the World War II radar hut and local wildlife.

Pm: Drive to the visitor centre and café at Hoswick in Sandwick. Visit Rerwick Beach to spot seals and onto beautiful St Ninian's Isle before returning to the hotel.

Day 3: Shetland (Sat, 4 Sept)

B D

Am: Drive to Lerwick, the capital of Shetland and its only town. Visit the Shetland Museum and Archives for an overview of its superb collection, with time to explore. See the boat shed and hall, which demonstrates a traditional style of boat building, at the scenic Hay's Dock of Lerwick. Visit the well preserved Clickimin Broch, incorporating a late Bronze Age-early Iron Age farmstead and Iron Age fort.

Pm: Explore Lerwick on a guided tour, including Victoria Pier, and depart through the Tingwall Valley. Hear of the Norse heritage of Tingwall and see Shetland ponies.

Continue to Scalloway, the former capital of Shetland and learn of its integral part in the Shetland Bus operation, an undercover operation that took place in World War II. See the ruins of Scalloway Castle, next to the Scalloway Museum. The museum has information on the history of the regions encompassing Neolithic settlers, Vikings Scots and up to World War II.

Eve: Dinner in Lerwick and return to the hotel.

Day 4: Shetland (Sun, 5 Sept)

B L

Am: An early start to travel up to the north-west corner of Shetland and visit Tangwick Haa. This small museum is located inside an old haa (hall) which was the home of the laird. The hall also contains information on Shetland's unique and complex geology. Continue onto the stunning Eshaness cliffs.

Pm: Lunch at St Magnus Bay Hotel in Hillswick before continuing to Sumburgh.

Day 5: Shetland / Orkney (Mon, 6 Sept)

B D

Am: Late morning transfer to Sumburgh Airport to fly to Orkney, an archipelago comprising approximately 70 islands with a rich Norse heritage.

Pm: Arrive in Kirkwall and transfer to the Ayre Hotel and at leisure. (For those who prefer a sea crossing there is a 17.30 sailing from 0 Lerwick, which sails past Fair Isle and arrives in Kirkwall at 23:00 on NorthLink Ferries. Please contact us for more information).

Day 6: Orkney (Tues, 7 Sept) B L or B D *

Am: Visit the famous Italian Chapel, a beautiful building constructed by Italian POWs in World War II, who were brought to Orkney in 1942 to build a giant causeway - today known as the Churchill Barriers - to seal off access to the vast naval base at Scapa Flow. Visit the CWGC St Olaf Cemetery.

Pm: Visit the Burray Fossil and Heritage Centre and St Magnus Cathedral. Continue to the lovely Earl's Palace and the Orkney Museum, which features paintings by Orcadian artist Stanley Cursiter, who was the Queen's Painter and Limner (the queen's official court painter in Scotland). Option to visit the quirky Orkney Wireless Museum.

Day 7: Orkney (Wed, 8 Sept) B L

Am: Orkney's human history stretches back 10,000 years. Its Neolithic origins can be seen in ceremonial stone circles, tombs, prehistoric villages and many other ancient monuments. Explore this extraordinary heritage with a visit to Skara Brae, the seventeenth century mansion of Skail House, the Ring of Brodgar and Maeshowe.

Pm: After lunch at the Standing Stones Hotel visit the Standing Stones of Stenness. Return to Kirkwall.

Day 8: Orkney (Thur, 9 Sept) B D

Am: Visit Stromness Museum and the Pier Arts Centre, which includes work by Barbara Hepworth and Ben Nicholson. The gallery extension won an architectural prize for best building in Scotland in 2007.

Pm: Visit Orkney Brewery for lunch (at client's expense). Visit the HMS Tern, one of four World War II airfields, with Andy Hollinrake, a local specialist guide. Return to Kirkwall along the shore of Scapa Flow.

Eve: Farewell dinner.

Day 9: Orkney (Fri, 10 Sept) B

Am: Depart Orkney.

* Those traveling by ferry will have lunch in Lerwick; those traveling by plane will have dinner in Kirkwall.

The itinerary is subject to change according to local conditions.
